Great and Useful Invention.

No more Mortality for want of Water.
Sure wealth to Estancieros
By the Robert Apparatus.

Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long (seca) that afflict the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate to the Estancieros an Apparatus at once simple and infallible for curing as much water as they may require 120 Bordaisses per hour (it seems fabulous) is procured with my apparatus, without fear of at any time its getting out of order.

This machine is worked by one horse and in one day's work can give 4 Bordaisses; that is to say, sufficient water for 20,000 head of cattle.

By these figures can be calculated the immense advantages gained by its use.

Another advantage is the facility of putting it together and taking it to pieces, as to be able to transport it to any place where it may be necessary to use it. eiter for watering purposes or others.

GREAT MODIFICATION.

I have made an improvement in my apparatus, applying a new system which reduces the necessary force two thirds, giving it at the same time more rapidity.

Those interested can see it at Calle Moreno, No. 946 (Honerrado, Paris.)

One sole inspection of the Apparatus will prove to them the superiority of it over any other.

"All talk, and scant of wit, yet an endless dicere."—Cicero.

SUNDAY, MARCH 27, 1864.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Packet leaves to-day, taking with her many foreign residents and their families who wish to spend them all a pleasant voyage and speedy return.

The long-talked-of elections come off to-day, and in order to preserve order the city is under, we may say, martial law. Sticks, whips, and horses are strictly prohibited. Our readers had better keep aloof from the polls, as as the club meetings last night there were very high words, and it is possible that, notwithstanding all the precautions taken, some of the tables may be capsized.

There is a rumour through town that Mr. Luchantal is negotiating a large loan in this city for the Montevideon Government. We have not heard the terms, but suppose that the unfortunate Montevideon Custom-house will be the security offered. The most ardent supporters of Flores must now see the ruin which this man is bringing on his country, and yet there does not seem the remotest hope of a speedy termination to this scandalous revolution.

The accounts we receive from the Banda Oriental describing the state of the camps are truly alarming. The cattle are all dying, and if the rain does not come soon the sheep will perish also. Such a drought was never before experienced in that country. An English merchant, who has just come over from the Rio Negro, assures us that the camps are like the streets of Buenos Ayres, covered with dirt and dust. The state of the camps in this province, in parts, is also very bad, but by no means such as that of the Banda Oriental. Near the Villa Mercedes, particularly, the grass is very scarce. We think that our friends who moved their sheep out last year had better be in no hurry to return, as the approaching winter does not look the most promising.

The works of the Bon Railway have at last been recommenced, and we are happy to learn that the contractor for the enterprise is a fellow-countryman, who has at present a gang of fifty men, all of whom know more about working on railways than speaking Spanish or taking mate. Country-men will now find good employment at high wages without being compelled to live with a lot of Indians and negroes. We hope that this new Argentine Dargan will succeed, and make a first-rate job of it.

The works of the Southern Railway are progressing rapidly; land about the Lomas de Zamorra has increased greatly in value, as it is thought this picturesque little suburb will, one of these days, be a very large town. We hear of a large "cordal," in that neighbourhood having been bought by two well-known English gentlemen, at a very high figure.

It is most surprising, that notwithstanding the number of enterprising men in the River Plate, chances for making a fortune are let slip. In Montevideo, owing to the revolution and drought, maize is selling at over 200 dols. per fanega, whilst in Rosario, and many parts of Santa Fe, maize is so abundant, that it is even difficult to get one and a-half Bolivianos for it. In San Nicolas maize was selling a few weeks ago at the Plaza 80 dols. per fanega. There is a good chance here for making a small fortune, if any of our friends has time, money, and energy enough to take the matter up.

Notwithstanding the great anxiety to hear positive news from the mines in San Juan, mail after mail arrives, and we hear of nothing, save political strife, which none of us care to read. The only news of importance, by the San Juan mail, is that the Governor has sent to Chile to buy some iron seats for the Plaza, but about Mr. Bickard, and the Mining Company, not one word. We greatly fear that things in San Juan are not as we could wish. The Governor has refused to discharge with the subsidy from the National Government, alleging that it at present owes thirty odd thousand silver dollars to that province. If we recollect rightly, San Juan has been already paid large bills, which were sent in last year; and it does seem surprising, that a province so distant and small, should have suffered in a pecuniary point of view, so much more than all the other provinces: it would seem that there are some good accountants in San Juan. It is time now that we should hear something of the mines. A large mail will bring us some good news.

In Montevideo, the only subject of conversation is Mr. Letsom's grand dinner. Our colleague, the 'Comercio,' in describing it, says—

"To-day Ministers Herrera and Marmol met with Mr. Letsom, and such dinners, the good dishes speak and inspire cordiality, and good diplomatic wines sharpen the appetite of brotherly love. Which will be the best dish served? Will it not be cooked inordination, with potatoes English style, and white sauce."

We think if our friend, Mr. Letsom, has nothing else for dinner but 'cooked interdiction,' he will be a long time before Marmol or Herrera will ever dine with him again; and if our worthy representative limits himself to such disgraceful dishes, it will be years before he arrives at that eubonpoint so essential to all diplomatists. We are curious to know how Parodi got up the style of bottle of this celebrated diplomatic wine, about which our colleague speaks. We do not mean, for a moment, to insinuate that any of the late big dinner party becomes powerfully refreshed, but our colleague states that Parodi's wine is the best he has ever tasted there; and very possibly before this celebrated dinner party terminated, some peculiar demonstrations of fraternity were made by some of their Excellencies, which might induce the unwashed to believe that their diplomatic wine was nothing more nor less than some of Jamieson's Irish whiskey, which was sold at auction last week by Mr. Gowland.

One of the most extraordinary things is the vessel which arrived here with railway iron and coke to nobody. The captain has advertised in all the papers, but not a soul has come for the goods. We should advise the master of the vessel to call and see Don Manuel Haedo, who is at present importing as largely, probably, as he will sell for some years, and to take bran new paper dollars from the bank in payment. Haedo will give him a good price.

The Paven arrived yesterday, bringing us files from the interior. Every thing is going on well in the provinces; but the Consul-General, who was invited by the Minister to attend with the Government at the church on Holy Thursday, Captain Bruce, the owner of the Parana line of steamers, arrived yesterday; he leaves to day with his family in the English packet. A man who, for years, has most faithfully served the public merits more than a passing farewell from the 'Standard.' All his family leave for England, but he will probably not leave Buenos Ayres with them. We understand that there is a first class steamer in that port for the Rio Negro, but Captain Bruce knows the river Parana, he purposes buying. We wish him every success in his undertaking, and he, o that he will soon find a successful rival in the trade in the interior of this country, in fact we cannot do without him in the Parana, and the public owe a debt of gratitude which the ministry after his many services should have been instantly accorded, instead of being refused. There are this moment a number of passengers waiting for the Paven, as they know Mr Bruce's contract terminates in May, but to our mind the President should give a preference to the line of Mr. Bruce, as he is much for steam navigation in the River Plate. We should be glad, however, that Mr. Bruce would continue the trade Rio in a first class steamer of his own, and put on the Rosario line, and drive out Mr. Lezica from Gaucia.

The firing off rockets yesterday was something awful in the plaza and south part of the town; we could hardly attend to our business for the great fear of accidents we believe occurred, although rockets were flying in all directions

The Nacion, the ministerial paper that Dr. Lorenzo Torres has accepted the mission to Paraguay, and will shortly proceed to Asuncion. On the 1st instant, with the Catholic rites of the Mass is about to make a loan of five millions pats, to the National Govern ment. It is also said that our Don's friend, Sor. Sarmiento, will possibly become one of the National Ministers, and succeed Sor. Costa, but we discredit this in toto.

Repeating Flores, we hear from parties who arrived from the Uruguay that the revolution is at an end. The rebel army is off in the mountains somewhere with only a few men. Waldino Urquiza, Lopez, and some others are marching, with 200 men, towards Salto. Cristo and his Indians are along with them.

A most traffic affair had occurred at Peyandu. A young Argentine was in love with the daughter of Sor. Vicarro: the young lady repelled his advances, but her lover was furious. He went on the night in question and demanded an interview with the lady, which was granted, and, failing to persuade her to accept him, he drew a pair of pistols from his breast, and shooting first the girl in the face, he put the mouth of the pistol to his chin and fired. Strange to say, the discharge did not enter the brain, but he was determined to kill himself; and, wounded as he was in the most horrible manner, he went over to the river, Uruguay, which is forty yards deep, and threw himself headforemost into it. The young lady was wounded, but not killed, and is now recovering.

Minister Grancl, from Santa Fe, is appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to Buenos Ayres: the National Government have declined to supply arms to the National Guards of Santa Fe.

Sor. Mercedes, in the Banda Oriental, a great robbery of hides has been discovered. Some 2-00 hides of different brands, belonging to various estancieros, have been smuggled into the town, and were on the point of being shipped when embargoed.

From Entre Rios we learn that the camps are in splendid condition, the grass abundant, and the lagunas all full. Many people in the province think there will be a revolution in that province, but we opine the contrary.

By mail from Europe we have arrived; it has rained a good deal, and the cotton crop was in a flourishing condition. The news of importance is that Sr. Calvo, the Paraguayan Minister to France and England has resigned, and Sr. Candido Barrero has succeeded him. The rumour is that Sr. Calvo goes to Arroyo Estrella, which is about two leagues further towards Villa Rica.

HOLY WEEK INCIDENTS.

On Wednesday night we regret to say a lot of boys having raised the fry of fire in Sto Domingo church, there was a rush for the door; as however the sermon was over, and the religious ceremonies concluded, the majority of the congregation had either left or were in the act of leaving. Nevertheless several ladies in the rush stumbled, and narrowly escaped being trampled upon.

We hope that the authorities have caught these ruffians who attempted to play so practical a joke in the temple of the Most High.

It is calculated that there were over 2500 coloured persons in Santo Domingo. Such a number was never before seen assembled in Buenos Ayres. Every one proceeded, however, with the greatest decorum, save the juvenile ruffians, who raised the alarm about fire. The sermons delivered were eloquent and soul-stirring, but owing to the miserable acoustic arrangements in many of the churches it was impossible to hear the preacher at times.

On the same evening a drunken man having entered one of the churches and approached the steps of the altar, where he was causing serious disturbance, was forcibly ejected by an Irish gentleman who happened to be present. The matter caused a deal of fuss, but the highest praise is due to our spirited countryman.

On the same night the rush at one of the churches was so great that the sentinel stationed at the white door of entry was crowded within We regret this as a highly dangerous practice: thousands of persons were in the church at the time, and had any accident or false alarm been given the consequences would have been fatal.

On Holy Thursday the attendance at the churches, morning, noon, and night was enormous and unprecedented. The procession in the cathedral attracted thousands; the altars in the several churches were most magnificently decorated: a half-past twelve o'clock the vigil was kept, as usual, and solemnly, marched in twos to the cathedral, shortly afterwards Sr. Cazon led off the municipality (who were all attended with considerable elegance) to the Government House, where the President was waiting to receive them, and off headed by the President, his aides, general officers, ministers, &c., and visited the seven churches, commencing with the Cathedral. The President was dressed as a general officer, and looked rather well. In his tour he passed down Bolivar and when in front of our office we have no doubt offered up a silent prayer for our prosperity. The day was beautiful, the streets crowded, the ladies looking out for the very pink of fashion—towards evening, the throng became greater, and at night time, not only the streets but every house were impassable. At Santo Domingo and San Francisco hundreds of persons knelt before the door of the church, as entrance was out of the question. The plaza was crowded, and the band played some lugubrious airs to the fashionable promenaders.

On Good Friday, the churches were crowded, and the whole city wore a garb of mourning. At night, the Plaza Victoria was so thronged, that promenading was out of the question. The seats around the Plaza were occupied by ladies, but the conduct of some of the young men towards these ladies was most unbecoming We heard many complaints, and several ladies were obliged to leave the Plaza, owing to the immodest jokes of these swells. We must protest against this conduct: nothing can be more improper on such occasions. The crowd, it may be supposed, was composed of persons who, in the exercise of their religious duties, were kneeling down in front of the church; yet in the Plaza a very different scene was going on. A gang of young men went from seat to seat, striking wax matches, and looking at the ladies. We only heard of one robbery, perpetrated by two boys, who stole a watch from a foreigner, and although the owner saw the boys running off with his property, he was so shocked at their youth, owing to having got in amongst the ladies, and escaped

On Holy Saturday, all the wealth and beauty of Buenos Ayres was in the Plaza; business was forgotten; the selling of the steamer was unheeded; all crowded to the Plaza to see the ladies decked out in jewels and diamonds. The bursting of Judas Iscariot took place as usual, and in an hour all were fled, the Plaza occupied only by unemployed Italians and sleepy policemen. The firing of rockets, however, continued for some hours, but no accident happened.

ALL THE YEAR ROUND

(Not by Dickens.)

Foreigners newly arrived must be pretty disgusted at seeing the lawful state of slavery in which the Argentines are groaning: the worst feature of the matter is, they do not seem to feel the weight of their fetters. Are they aware that since November last they have only had two elections, and even between them, owing to the time have been so ground down by tyrannical governors, that they have lost all spirit, and care not now to assert their rights? Every day we hear, "Oh, we, by good luck. Argentine citizens, we would never rest till we had elections day after day, elections for every, and for every thing, from those of the municipals: murdering gauchos for Juezes de Paz; thieves for alcaldes; and cut-throats for governors, and last but not least, newspaper editors for President and managers of railways. By this means, every one would have a chance of getting the post with whom he was most likely to come in contact.

The general idea in Europe about the Argentine Republic is, that there is an annual revolution, elections every twenty-four hours, and paper money every month, whereas the reverse is true, and that; it is as near approximate to what Samuel Slick, Esq., would call A.V. (Airthly Paradise) (really Argentine Confederation) as to be found in a wicked world. We have, thanks to the grinding heel of a despot, a revolution, but whose life was more often shorter than once a month, and paper money that is never paid for, but which can still buy railways.

The late Right Hon. Jack Chatham finished his last speech with "Were I an American, as I am an Englishman, and a foreign force should ever land in my country, I would never lay down my arms, no, never, never.' These same grand words, slightly altered, would just suit the Argentines, if they were placed under the burden of not having elections all the year round. Let our worthy colleague, the 'Trojan Horse,' drop the 'forum,' and take advantage of these words which, although uttered by an Englishman, are wonderfully stirring.

Another Shipwreck British Brig

A British brig, the Royal Dane, bound from Cadiz to Montevideo, has been lost at the Island of Paloma. The British consul has been informed, and gone to her assistance. No particulars of the disaster are known. The admiral, the moment he heard of the disaster, immediately took steps to send her relief.

As far back as the middle of last century, one of the Pisani family encouraged with the Venetian republic and chronic revolution, they have no time to attend to the arts of peace, and therefore their lifeblood. Seaven months passes that we have not to record some maritime disaster or other in this river, all owing to want of proper lights, and the channel being buoyed. It was already, very soon this river will have gained such an unenviable notoriety as ship-crowning, and underwriters will not allow vessels to come here, and then see if Flores' name be sufficient to sustain the country. Were our colleagues only to advocate, with one half the zeal, which they devote to rotten politics, the placing of lights, buoying the rivers, and proper laws for lighters, they would find that their country would be a gainer by this change of subject.

The Cork "Coats garden."

Our French colleague devotes a short paragraph to this body of gentlemen guards, worthy descendants of the 'Guides' of last century, and states that they have been enrolled by a well known foxhunter who has been been brought somewhat prominently before the public lately. The following are the particulars of his notoriety:—

A gentleman residing in Cork, of considerable eminence in the scientific world, as well as distinguished in the hunting world, and in social circles, received at a ball near Queenstown, at which a young lady of great beauty was present. In the course of the evening this gentleman, who had been but a short time previously introduced to the lady, managed to monopolise a large share of her conversation, in such a manner as to excite some little annoyance among various other gentlemen present who naturally felt somewhat displeased at being so much shut out from any share of the attention of the belle of the rooms Amongst these were two English officers, one of whom in the course of the evening made a remark to the Irish gentleman in reference to his monopoly of the lady's attention, and in some phrase which, by implication, meant that he (the Irish gentleman) would not be as successful in any amorous contests. The Irish gentleman at once accepted the implied challenge, and said that if the lady to whom he was speaking would only give him her bracelet to wear as a gage at the next day's hunt, which was to to come off near Fermoy, he would undertake to be one in at the finish before either of the two officers; and would then write a song to be dedicated to the lady and in her praise, which he would get set to music, and afterwards have sung before one of the largest audiences ever assembled in the Cork theatre. The wager was at once accepted, £20 being the sum staked. The lady with much spirit gave her bracelet, the hunt came off, the gentleman won it, and rode in triumphantly at the head of the field. He afterwards did compose the song, and got it set to music, and this was publicly hailed which it was, by a song so charmingly after the opera on the night of Tuesday week. To secure the large house on that night the patronage of the fashionables of the south of Ireland was obtained by the gentleman who played such a prominent part in the transaction, and the highly successful result was to be found in the crammed condition of every part of the building. The next morning, a letter was delivered to the hero of this adventure, containing a cheque for £20, from his rival, with whom he had made the bet, who thus acknowledged our countryman's superiority as a courtier, a cavalier, and a poet. This little bit of romance, which we have the best authority for asserting is true, is poetically treated in these prosaic days. The following is the Song:

The colours in my cap I wore,
Thy presence in my heart I bore;
Surely a cruel life was mine
Since it in thought was tinted with thine.

Dora mia, Dora mi
Only love me as I love thee.

No craven fear my bosom crost's,
I cared not if the race were lost;
So thou could,st look on me with pride,
For thee I'd willingly have died.

Dora mia, Dora mi
Only love me as I love thee.

But thanks to fate the world's reversed
And I can si g what I've rehearsed
So close to thee we're wont sight,
For thee I win! for thee I fight!

Dora mia, Dora mi
Only love me as I love thee.

Then as reward for my success
Performed by thee, I only ask
One single, simple, glance of love
From the bright eyes of my own I've.

Dora mia, Dora mi
Only love me as I love thee.

Cork Examiner

DUNDRAGAN OR DUNSTABLE.

At the request of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge, the Right Hon. the Lord Dundreary, T. R. H., delivered, a few evenings since, a popular lecture on the Danish or Schleswig-Holstein question. The room was densely crowded. The chair was taken by Professor Tenfeldtrockh.

The noble Lecturer came directly to the point at once. He said:—The Danish—Schleswig and Holstein are two Duchesses united in one—no, not two Duchesses, for who ever heard of two Duchesses united? Duchesses are women, and two women never get married except in the "stabilus Nights," where a woman got married because she thought she was a man; but that's not true, you know; only it just occurs to me that two women do get married sometimes, because I did two years since myself, and they got both married. But I think Schleswig and Holstein can't be both two Duchesses; or perhaps one is a Duchesses and the other is a Duchess and the other is a Duke; or one is a Duke and the other isn't a Duchess; but which is the Duchess and which isn't the Duke is one of those things no fellah could understand Holstein belongs to Germany, and Schleswig doesn't belong to Denmark; but Denmark wants to get Schleswig on Diet that Denmark thinks can't agree with her. Of course, it's very wrong to intend on obtaining a fellah's Diet by fellah likes it; but Federal Diet is better than no Diet at all. Half a-loaf, you know, in the hand is worth two in a bush; but I never saw a loaf in a bush I,m sure, and I don't know what loaves would want in bushes unless it was the fowls of Providence that fellah say grow in China, or Copenhagen, or some other hot place. We're going to have this thing settled, I guess so fight on both sides, because our Prince is married to Germany, and you can't ask us to act families to the ears. Blood is thicker than water, so my mother says; and the fine words are half the battle. So England is going to stick to neutrality and non-intention and not fight on both sides; and, then, you see, we must win one way or the other. It's hed ging, in fact—that's where it is. Besides, if we beat ourselves we won bit so very hard, and it won't hurt us half so much if any other fellah beat us. Fellahs ask me what the Federal officers will do; but I'm sure I don't know what the Federals have to do with it all. Down at Liverpool she're all Confederates, and they abuse the Federals all day long; but I always thought the Federal were in America—brother Jonathan wrote me the other day that they were, and he ought to know, you know, because he was in Australia, and now that we have got the Alabama gone out again, only this time he's going to China, so, of course, he knows all about it, and he said the Federals were in America, and, therefore, I don't see why they should interfere with Denmark, because Denmark is in Asia, and, of course, if an American Indian jokes his nose into Asia, he knocks up the balance of power in Europe; and I should think Earl Russell isn't going to stand that. If Germany attacks Denmark, the balance of power is knocked up; and if Denmark goes into Germany, of course the balance of power be knocked down. But where the balance of power is no fellah can make out; and I think it seems to be a scaly sort of affair altogether. Jacques wants to put herself into the balance, and I suppose if she wants it she will do it, because you know, people say he's one of the brave, and will fight a-weigh. Earl Russell knows that Germany wants to upset the balance, and he says she must have fallen from his lovers and Germany I suppose wants to catch hold of them, and make off with them. So it must come to a fight, you know. And if Denmark don't keep Schleswig then Germany oughtn't to keep Holstein, because Schleswig once belonged to Germany and now it belongs to Denmark, and Holstein belonged to Denmark and now it belongs to Germany, and we call it Schleswig-Holstein, because however we say Schleswig-Holstein, only Holstein belonged to Schleswig and Schleswig didn't belong to Holstein; and if Holstein wants Schleswig then Schleswig mustn't have Holstein, and Holstein and Schleswig must be made into one because they were always separate, and Schleswig and Holstein must be separated because they were always together, and two of a trape, you know never could live in two-pair of a box, so those things no fellah ever could understand.

Loud applause followed the Lord-ship's conclusion, and a vote of thanks was unanimously passed to him for his luminous and convincing lecture.

LATEST FROM MONTEVIDEO.

It is rumoured that the questions between the Argentine and Oriental Governments have been arranged amicably at Mr. Letsom's dinner party.

Mr. Luchantal and his colleague called Mandeua has named the local authorities all Floristas.

The Brazilian gunboat Paranahiba, which left on observation for Salto on Monday, took up Colonel Trillo, who is appointed military commander north of the Rio Negro.

On Monday night a fellow named Juan Bayero murdered a black man, named Bonifacio, in the casetel or section Cordon

Yerbas from the Misiones, Corrientes, is arriving in Montevideo and sells well.

In Cerro Largo there has been some fighting, and the Reforma states that Saez has been sent a force against him with with some 40 men were killed. The total loss of Flores is estimated at 300.

Vandoja Carabajal was in Rocha, and Borges an San Carlos on Monday. The new Chief of Police at Maldonado has ignore five days time for all persons to come forward and pay their 'contribution directa to Flores.

Commissaries Liberos have been arrested on suspicion, and placed a close prison in the fortress.

ANOTHER DISASTER.

The Argentine barque 'Adelaida' which arrived in Montevideo from Buenos Ayres on Sunday, bound for Antwerp, struck several times on the Ortiz bank, and was obliged to put into Montevideo in distress as she was making water fast. We hear that the vessel has to discharge her cargo and to be repaired before she can proceed on the voyage. .

Mr. Buschentaft's Ball.

On Saint Joseph's day Don José Buschentaft gave a grand blow out at his quinta to his friends. It commenced with a splendid breakfast, at which the three toasts of Montevideo were galantly honored by the consuls, the French Admiral, M. Charginan, kindly placed the band of the Astrea at the disposal of the host, and during breakfast it discoursed most excellent music. Señora Carballo favoured the company by singing many operatic pieces. About 4 p.m. the first batch of guests began to arrive. The quinta was a perfect Vauxhall with coloured lamps and the band occupied the central alleys playing select music. It had this advantage over Vauxhall—it did not rain, but on the contrary the spotty planet, as Milton calls the moon, shone with all her force. The whole affair wound up with supper at a late hour, and the guests departed regretting that things must all come to an end. Our worthy Minister has since tried to outdo this entertainment, and although there were always members of the aggly set who prefer a heavy feed to the company of youth, beauty, and virtue—these are all forgiven—Mr. Buschentaft has fairly outstripped him in giving the most pleasure to the most people.

How Long shall They Receive Warnings in Vain?

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

By the time this is in the hands of the public, the churches will be full of worshippers. On Saturday night the theatre will likely be crowded most densely than ever it was in the palmy days of the Lees Brothers; and what have the authorities done to prevent a repetition of the Chilian disaster on 8th December last? Have any regulations been made for the proper fastenings of doors of public buildings? Or are we again to hear the death-shrieks of people, who, but a few moments before, were listening to pious accents of holy music?

The Municipality has been warned repeatedly of the hideous state of filth in which this city is wallowing—death is abroad in our streets; and should the epidemic, which is called typhus, now ravaging the Banda Oriental, make its appearance at our gates, precautionary measures will be found to be of no avail, and the Great King will claim subjects from all ranks, from the President to the street fruit-seller.

After we have suffered just punishment for our want of care, a day of fasting will likely be appointed in order for these troubles to be averted from our heads. Qui bono? Death's harvest will, by that time, have been gathered and the curses, not loud but deep, of desolated fathers, sisters, and children will be showered upon the head of a stubborn Municipality.

The Portefios are fond of calling Buenos Ayres the South American Athens. There is a city in North Britain, almost as clean as this, which rejoice in the title of 'Modern Athens.' Well, some few years ago, this M.A. was visited by cholera morbus, and the frightened inhabitants petitioned her Majesty's Government to appoint a day of general fasting and mourning. The then Prime Minister returned the answer, that when the Modern Athenians kept their streets, alleys, and wynds clean and fresh, and introduced sewerage baths and good drinking water, then would he, if the epidemic still continued, appoint a day of fasting, &c.

Yours, &c.,

M. D.

LOCAL EVENTS.

Santiago del Estero.—The 'Forocarril' of Rosario, says that the plan of the navigation of the Rio Salado is prospering. At that river, although a scarcity of labourers would seriously affect the undertaking, but now, luckily, these apprehensions are dissipated, and in order to further the good work, as far as lies in its power, the Government has decreed that the workmen, whilst employed on the works, shall be free from military service. By this means, it is expected that there will be no great scarcity of hands; and as a further inducement for the men to keep steadily at work, this licence is annulled as soon as they stop work.

Euphemism.—A party, who evidently does not wish to hurt the feelings of his neighbours, advertises in one of the native newspapers that he person called Xx who took away a gold watch and chain, by mistake from such and such a street does not return the same, his name will be published." There is a degree of delicacy about this, which, in the present wretchedness of existing We have heard of some of the swell mob in London being so absent-minded as to put their hands in other people's pockets, and instead of being underst ood properly by heard-hearted magistrates, have been sentenced to severe punishments. But we never before met with any one who publicly declared his belief in the absent-mindedness and intentional innocence of the gentleman who took a gold watch and chain by mistake. This trait augurs well for the kindly feeling and morality of the Buenos Ayrino public.

The Conquezo.—This steamer, after being completely overhauled, has been put on the line of steamers between this and Montevideo, and is now likely to run regularly, as it is said that she has received special license from the Blanco Government to enter the neighbouring capital. To-morrow she will make her first trip.

An Argentine Marshall Haynau.—The Cordoba newspapers mention the following:—The Governor of Cordoba began to suspect a sergeant of being much inclined to Navarro. The sergeant keeping out of the way, his wife was seized and flogged, in order to make her divulge her husband's hiding place: she refused, and was again flogged, and died from the effects of the torture. If this be true, and we have no fight: It is expected that the fight will take place about the beginning of next month, and our next English packet will bring us news of the Shannon and Chesapeake affair.

ON 'CHANGE

March 26.

Patacons opened at 29,10, and closed at 29,15, but there was no animation whatever on the tholes. The cash sales amounted to 23,4 7. For the month of the month (22,903, at 29,10. At the end of the month of April, 33,300 at 29,15. For the 16th April 500, at 29,10. Total sales, 1057.

On 'Change to day, there was a very slight attendance, as the majority of the distinguished brokers were in the Plaza at the time.

There were a few Bills of Exchange passed on England to day at 66s. 6d., and many merchants were surprised that the Government had not remitted, by this packet, to meet the payment on the interest on the bonds in England; but the contract on these Bills is, we believe, does not fall due until the 12th of July, therefore the Government can remit by next packet in time to meet this payment.

Is is rumoured that the National Government is negotiating a loan with the Mauá Bank for five thousand patacons but this report is erroneous. The Mauá Bank has opened a large credit for the National Government in account current.

Sr. Don Estevan Rams; we are happy to hear, has at last obtained a concession from the Government, exempting all peons employed at the Salado works from military service. This is of the greatest importance to Mr. Ham's undertaking, as it carries a great scarcity of peons in Santago del Esterro.

Specie is becoming slightly more in demand, as many merchants have to remit onces up the river to the salt deriates, who are beginning to work. Paper money is also in good demand, and with a very slight effort, on the part of the Finance Minister, ounces might be brought a little down.

Be sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have no hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, workingmen & servants & all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the mount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest till be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and at all are directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and the neighbouring ports.

Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,
CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS
Over—Mr. Pongeard, of the Louvain Universities College.

This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronised by the principal families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School, where a sound commercial education and the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the moral behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.

The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.

Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, Grammar, Music and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.

The attention of the English Grammar School, in one of the most delightful quantas of the Calle Larga de Barracas, at the very gates of the city, is one of the most healthy and picturesque of the environs of Buenos Ayres.
